ASK COURT TO PASS ON WILL

C. E. TILFORD'S CHILDREN TO TEST DOCUMENT'S LEGALITY.

Their Father Cut Them Off With $6,000 Annuities—Hope to Get $250,000 Aplece Outright, Which, With More, Was Left to Charitable Institutions

An action is now pending in the Supreme Court to determine whether the entire residuary estate of the late Charles E. Tilford, of the firm of Park & Tilford, shall go to various charitable organizations, or whether half of it shall go absolutely to his children, whom he cut off with small

Charles E. Tilford died in April, 1899, leaving a will in which he appointed the United States Trust Company and Warren W. Foster executors and trustees of his estate, which was subsequently appraised at $1,100,000. Surviving him are his wife, Corinne Tilford; his daughter, Etta Tilford Kirkland, the wife of Edward Kirkland. a coffee broker, and his son, George E. Tilford, the husband of Rita Selby, who once belonged to the "A Trip to Chinatown" once belonged to the X Tip to Chinatowa company.

Mr. Tilford, it is said, was very much displeased with the marriages of both his children. He did not go to either wedding and never afterward spoke to them. Even on the day of his death he refused to see them. When his will was opened it was found that he had cut off both the children with an appuitty of $6,000 each. His wife with an annuity of $6,000 each. His wife received a life interest in his entire estate. At her death, and the death of the children, At her death, and the death of the children, the entire residue was to be distributed among the St. John's Guild, the Children's Aid Society, the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the American Museum of Natural History, the Metropolitan Museum of Art, the Presbyterian, the Flower, St. Vincent's and Mount Sinai hospitals, and the Home for Incurables.

His bitterness toward his son-in-law and his daughter-in-law was further shown in in his will by the specific direction that under no circumstances should either of them or their children be interred in the family burial plot. His daughter was always referred to in his will by her maiden name. In the event of his wife or his children contesting the will, he directed that the estate should be distributed as though the contestant were dead. He also directed that should his wife remarry her life interst should cease. When the will was offered for probate,

When the will was offered for probate, Charles P. Caldwell of 44 Broadway, the attorney for the widow and children, advised them that they could offer objections to the will under a provision of the code which directs that no person having a husband, wife, child or parent, shall devise more than one-half of his estate to charitable institutions. But in the face of the direction in the will providing that any or all contestants should be cut off absolutely. Lawyer Caldwell thought it a risky specu-all contestants should be cut off absolutely, Lawyer Caldwell thought it a risky speculation. So the will was admitted to probate without objection on April 19, 1899.

A few weeks ago, Edward W. Sheldon and James H. Hyde of 45 Wall street, attorneys for the trustees, began an action to obtain a judicial construction of a provision of the will which directed the trustees to hold the testator's interest in the firm of Park and Tilford. The name of the grocery firm is Park & Tilford, the "and" being abbreviated.

As it is a New Jersey corporation, and the law provides that only New York corporations can traffic in liquors within this State, a New York corporation was formed to carry on the firm's liquor business. It was known as Park and Tilford, the "and" being written in full. All of its shares were held by the grocery firm.

It was Tilford's evident intention to direct the trustees to hold his interest in

It was Tilford's evident intention to direct the trustees to hold his interest in the grocery concern, but through inad-vertence the name of the liquor concern was used in the will. The trustees have followed what they thought was the tes-tator's intention, but they have now de-termined to have the Court sanction their conduct.

Lawyer Caldwell believes that this action has enabled his clients to ask for a full construction of the will without running the risk of being cut off. In his answer, which was served a few days ago, he has asked the Court to pass upon the testator's right to devise more than one-half of his estate to devise more than one-half of his estate to charitable institutions.

Should Caldwell win his point only one-half of Tilford's residuary estate will eventually go to the institutions, and about $250,000 will be equally divided immediately between his two children. His widow has joined with the children in the widow has joined with the children in the suit, but she has no pecuniary interest as under the terms of th accepted her life interest in lieu of all claims.

SHERRY SUES DAVID LAMAR. And Gets $172 and $9 Costs for 36 Suppers Served on Tick.

David Lamar, whose coachman accused him of hiring Monk Fastman and some of his gang to assault the coachman at Freehold, N. J., was sued by Louis Sherry for $172, and the case was tried in the Yorkville Municipal Court vesterday, Mr. Sherry complained that the defendant had run complained that the defendant had run up the bill for suppers served to him between Jan. 11 and Nov. 17, 1903. Altogether, he got thirty-six suppers on tick, and promised to pay when the bill was sent to him. The to pay when the bill was sent to him. The plaintiff testified that he had made repeated demands for payment and received only promises to pay some time in the future.

Lamar did not appear and Justice Joseph gave judgment to the plaintiff for the full amount, with $9 costs.

THE BIG EASTER OFFERINGS. Task of Counting Them Not Yet Finished in the Larger Churches.

Those responsible for counting the Easter offerings in the fashionable churches, where the amount received makes the labor of counting it not small, have not nearly finished the job and at present the amounts can only be guessed at.

At St. Thomas's Church it was said yesterday that the counting was not finished. The amount of the Easter offering at Trinity.

Dr. Dix said, may not be known for several days.

At St. George's it was said that days. At St. George's it was said that the amount would not be known till the middle of the week. The offering at Grace Church, though not yet totalled, will amount to more than $15,000.

COLLAR BONE BROKEN IN HUNT. William Davy, a Whip, Falls from Green Hunter-Heavy Going Bothers Riders.

HEMPSTEAD, N. Y. April 4.-Some of the best cross country riders about New York took part in the drag hunt that was held this afternoon over the north country of Long Island. The mud, ankle deep in many unters severely before they reached the finishing point some seven miles from Old Westbury, where the pack first took the westodry, where the pack list took the means.

William Davy, at one time one of the Meadow Brook whips, was riding a green hunter who slipped on the mud of the heavy field when about to take a four barred post and rail fence. The horse unscated Davy, and before he could jump to his feet the hunter rolled partly over him, breaking his collar bone and shaking him up severely. Some weeks will elapse before he can ride again.

Owing to the mud and heavy going a number of the riders pulled up and retired before reaching the finishing point. Among those were Hamilton Hadden, W. Scott Cameron and the two whips, J. Murphy and P. Hannon, Quite a number of spectators also followed across country in traps. The drag hunt was from Old Westbury to East Williston and then north over an excellent hunting country to Roslyn.

IN THE BASEBALL WORLD. New York Nationals Win a Ten Inning Victory-Other Games.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 4 .- The New York Nationals tried to take things easy in their exhibition game with the local Southern League team here to-day and when they woke up it took them ten innings to land a victory. The final score was New York, 9: Montgomery, 8.

McGinnity started in to do the pitching for hem, but with two out in the opening act he jabbed his most useful finger in the ground trying to pick up a bunt. He made an effort o continue on the slab without having his customary effectiveness at his command, out in the second inning became convinced that he had underestimated the prowess of he local batters. Taylor succeeded him after | could not get up a respectable gallop and three runs had been scored.

Taylor did not seem to think he needed o warm up before starting in. The locals waited on his efforts like big leaguers, secursingles which netted two more runs. Then the New Yorks began to see what they were up against, and a little gingery coaching by McGraw brought about a more pronounced effort and they won out.

McGinnity's injury will keep him out of practice for fully a week. He tore the nail

Centrals Defeat Xaviers and Nationals Beat the Irish in Championship Series.

The metropolitan championship at the National A. C. gymnasium last night was signalized by the best basketball game of the tourney so far. The opponents in this game were the Xavier A. A. and the Central Y. M. C. A., both with undefeated records. In point of weight the Christians had the advantage, but the Xaviers made up for the deficiency by their activity.

In the early part of the fray the Xaviers were in the lead, but facing the end of the first half they weakened and the Christians scored rather easily and led by a comfortable margin when the whistle blew.

In the second half the Xaviers played a splendid uphill game, gaining point by point on the Christians. Toward the end the piay was exceptionally fast and exciting, the Christians winning out by a solitary point. The second match was between the National A. C. and Greater New York Irish A. A., and was almost similarly contested. After a neck-and-neck score for the forty minutes the home team came out a winner by a couple of points. Bigelow for the Irish scored no iess than eight goals from fouls.

JIM NEWMAN'S STEEPLECHASE

nona Finishes First in Two-Year-Old but Is Disqualified Spring, Alded by a Poor Start, Beats Graziallo-Mountain Breeze a Surprise.

WASHINGTON, April 4 .- The Easter Monday Steeplechase, which was the feature of the card at Bennings to-day, bordered on a farce Five horses started and three of them fell, E. Lane's Imperialist, who was a 7 to 10 favorite and was ridden by Jimmy Mara, finally went down in a heap, burning up thousands of dollars of the public's money T. Hitchcock, Jr.'s Jim Newman, on the other hand, who was a lukewarm second choice at threes, lost no time in going to the front, where he jumped easily and ran straight and true. At the end he was just galloping and had ten lengths over Billy Ray, 20 to 1 Both Agio and Harrow took tumbles, but Heider remounted the latter and made a laughable run home for third money, which he received under the rules.

The air was chilly and the high wind that had been blowing almost continuously since Saturday served to dry out the track so that fast time was possible. As it was practi-cally a holiday and seven races were down for decision, another large crowd came out, many society people watching the sport from the clubbe rom the clubhouse lawn.

In point of interest, barring the steeplechase, the race that attracted the most attention was the third, for three-year-olds at six furlongs, as the talent could not discriminate between the Goughacres Stable's Spring and the Columbia Stable's Graziallo who went to the post equal favorites at even money. But when it came to racing, Spring got the best of a poor start, made all the pace and won easily by four lengths. Gra-ziallo, who was practically beaten by the send-off, came with great reserve power n the stretch and nipped the place from Briarthorpe by a head. The time was in the stretch and nipped the place from Briarthorpe by a head. The time was 1:16 4-5.

Albert Simons's Anona, a black filly by Pontiao-Luella B., after finishing first in the second race, for two year olds at four send a half furlongs, was disqualified for fouling. She carried a world of money, placed on her at the track, the price dropping from 5 to 1 to 13 to 5, while it was said that she was also heavily backed all over the country. Frank Farrell's First Born, 7 to 5 favorite, was bumped at the start and had no chance to get up. Bert Orsa, an Albert colt, cut out the running, with Lily Brook, 5 to 1, Anona and Garrett Wilson, 10 to 1, following. In the stretch Anona took the lead after twice fouling Garrett Wilson and won by a head, Garrett Wilson finishing two lengths before Pygmalion, 25 to 1. On the protest of E. Walsh the stewards disqualified Anona and placed Garrett Wilson, Lily Brook and Pygmalion first, second and third, respectively.

Frank Farrell's smart filly Minon, 7 to 5 favorite, took the first race, at five and a half furlongs, in a heavy drive. Andrew Miller's Julia M. was solidly backed at 11 to 5, with Athlana at 8 to 1 and the others begging at all sorts of prices. Diaphanous, 50 to 1, showed the way to the head of the stretch, where he gave up, and Mimon sailed to the front with a rare turn of speed. But the Farrell filly began to tire at the last sixteenth, and when she passed the judges a head in front of old Alpaca, 30 to 1, the latter was overhauling her with every jump. Andrattus, 15 to 1, moved up from the rear guard with enough speed to be third, three lengths back and a head before Queen Flizabeth, 25 to 1. Julia M. was interfered with as the field was sent away and was never prominent. Mimon's time was 1:101-5.

Ninespot, Princelet and Setauket, first, second and third choices, at 8 to 5, 11 to 5 and 18 to 5, respectively, finished in this order in the fifth race at seven furlongs. For a time it seemed as if Ninespot would not get a slice of the money, as she was slow to get un

Breeze, a 69 to 1 shot, stood the others on their heads, galloping home two lengths to the good in 145 4-5. W. B. Fasig, second choice, secured the place from Sailor's Delight, to to to by a length and half. Bovier, the favorite, was badly beaten. Three favorites and three second choices got the money for the form players, while the star jockeys did not cut much of a figure.

Because of the foul riding in the second race, Jockeys Cormack and Cochran got into trouble. Cochran, who rode Ahona, hal Cormack pinched against the rail and at the finish Cormack struck Cochran over the shoulder with his whip, and the stewards suspended him for two days. Cochran was set down for three days, and later three more days were added because he undertook to chastise Cormack when the boys reached the jockeys' room.

TAME TENNESSEE DERBY. Capt. Brown's Pair at 1 to 30 Almos Walkover for the Stake.

MEMPHIS, April 4.—The Tennessee Derby, run to-day at Montgomery Park, was the most disappointing and uninteresting in the history of this Southern classic. Only four horses were expected to start and of these Geronimo was scratched just before the race, eaving Proceeds and Conjurer, from Capt S. S. Brown's stable, and Samurai, from the string of Ed Corrigan, to compete for the, valuable purse. The race was little more than a fair exercise spin for the Brown pair, and the bookmakers held the entry at odds of 1 to 30 and some at 1 to 40. The Brown pair got off in front and led all the way, both under great restraint. Proceeds was elected to win because of the post the victory would have placed on Conjurer in his future engagements. The race was run in the slow time of 2:021/2, not as good as the time made in sellling races at the same distance. Proceeds won by half a length from Conjurer, who was a length and a half ahead of Samurai. The stake had a net value of $5,030 to the winner. # PRACTICAL TESTS FOR AUTOS.

AUTOMOBILE CLUB'S CONTEST STARTS ON NEW LINES.

Commercial Motor Vehicles Begin a Week's Work for Express and Brewing Companies - Competitors Include Two That Journeyed From Springfield.

Early yesterday morning there appeared on Madison avenue, in the stretch between Forty-fifth and Forty-ninth streets, a scene which was full of the suggestion that it was but a prophetic miniature of a greater picture of the future, when all the city's streets shall be void of draught horses and power trucks and wagons taking up half the space and hauling twice the loads shall move about attending to the cartage of commerce.

Drawn up along the curb lines on the blocks mentioned were fifteen motor driven trucks and wagons awaiting the beginning of the Automobile Club's contest for commercial vehicles of the power type. There was a wide variety of style, size and hauling power-the light wagon with the hooded top and back doors, such as florists and undertakers use; the open, box-bodied express cart and the big floored truck with side racks. The whole range of draught vehicles was apparently covered. Among them stood several passenger motor cars, which added to the scene's suggestiveness of the horseless age being near at hand.

Shortly before 8 o'clock these wagons and trucks of various styles and sizes began to back up to the platform of the American and the Westcott Express companies, abutting the New York Central railroad near Forty-sixth street, to receive loads. They backed up in pairs, triplets and quadruplets, and there was never a hitch about their movements. Whether in the long run these motor driven wagons or the horse drawn ones will cart goods more cheaply each ton for each mile, the result of the competition between them this week will decide, but as they manceuvred at the freight depot and started away with their loads, the power vehicles had all the appearance of having the bette. of it in every way.

It was the second contest for commercial motor vehicles held under the auspices of the Automobile Club of America that began yesterday.

It was arranged that those who enlisted

It was arranged that those who enlisted for the contest should be put to work for a week at the regular routine hauling of some concerns, where they would be in constant competition with horses having the same tasks to perform. It was arranged for all except the heaviest trucks to work for the express company named, the biggest trucks going to work similarly for the H. Clausen & Son brewery.

Eighteen vehicles were entered for the contest. Of these only one was unable to be ready on time Fifteen were weighed in empty on Saturday and two more yesterday, the latter two being the Knox delivery wagons Nos. 5 and 6, which made the run of 150 miles from Springfield, Mass., to New York under their own power. They started Friday night from Springfield and had many misadventures through getting stuck in the mud, but they reached New York at 11 o'clock on Saturday still in perfect running order and ready for the "service test."

It was just 8 o'clock when the first of the feet running order and ready for the "service test."

It was just 8 o'clock when the first of the competitors left the express depot. It was a gasolene motored truck loaded with an assortment of cases and trunks and a crated stag's head on top of them. It was bound for Jamaica, L. I. Within an hour all had departed. Two big trucks, each equal to hauling five tons, left the brewery in Forty-seventh street, near Second avenue, one at 5:10 o'clock carrying sixty half barrels of beer and bound for Flushing. L. 1., the other at 6:30 o'clock with fifty half barrels bound for Yonkers. President Winthrop E. Scarritt, Secretary S. M. Butler of the club and John A. Fill, chairman of its contest committee, were on hand to see them off.

contest committee, were on hand to see them off the various regular routes of the concerns in whose service the contestants are engaged are being used for their work and each day each vehicle will be sent over different territory in order to test them all equally. Each vehicle in the contest is, however, equipped with a new and tested odometer, so that the actual distance it travels will be always on record.

According to C. J. Blanthorn, the master of transportation for the express company, who will fix the task for the competitors, Monday is always a light day and the loads given the motor wagons were as a rule far short of their capacity. Each of the packages had its weight recorded on the books of the company, however. Besides the operator and the observer, each vehicle carried a representative of the express company. On six of the vehicles, Nos. 4, 5, 7, 8, 11 and 12, employees of the express company were acting as official observers; on four others, Nos. 3, 13, 14 and 15 the observer were students from the and 16, the observers were students from the Columbia University school of applied me-

The work of the first day, generally speaking, was remarkably good. Nearly all the contestants finished their tasks early and were in the official garage and were locked up at 7 o'clock in the evening. No one asked permission to stay and make repairs. At 10 o'clock only three contestants had not been stabled for the night. These were Nos. 13, 15 and 18. Nos. 12 and 15 went to Flushing, while No. 18 took the trip to Yonkers.

No. 2 took 900 pounds of baggage to Flushing and got back at 5:52 o'clock, having covered 34% miles. No. 3 made the same trip, carrying 4,000 pounds, and finished at 6:36 o'clock. No. 4 made forly—three deliveries about the city, 27% miles, and finished at 5:55 o'clock. No. 5 made three different trips on city routes, with fifty-two deliveries, and finished at 6 o'clock. No. 5 made three different trips on city routes, with fifty-two deliveries, and finished at 6 o'clock. No. 5 made four trips about town, travelling 38% miles, and finished at 5:30 o'clock. When inspecting the latest examples of the carriage craftsman's art at the Studebaker warerooms-you have our cordial invitation-it is well not to overlook the consideration of utility.

Conscientious study of requirements, practical and artistic, is the explanation of the inclusiveness as well as the individual perfection of the Studebaker line, ranging from the handsome Grand Victoria to so simple and serviceable a vehicle as the tudebaker Pony Governess Cart. Not what could be called a luxurious turnout, nor especially stylish; but it is roomy and comfortable, beautifully finished, and a true exemplar of the Mudebaker traditions. Its strong, deep body makes it particularly safe for the little ones. In this department are also to be found Pony Runabouts, Pony Phaetons, Pony Surreys and Two-wheelers in great variety. C.E. Sands and T. Suffern Tailer, but it proved very one-sided. Sands won by three games to love, 6-0, 6-0, 6-3. He is playing in splendid style, and, as he defeated J. Crane, Jr., for the local club championship ten days ago, three games to two, it is thought that Sands may be able to bring the championship back to New York.

The morning match was an easy victory for the former lawn tennis champion, O. S. Campbell, from P. S. Sears, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. Campbell, from P. S. Sears, 6-4, 6-4, 6-3. Campbell's strength was in the fore-hand volley, but otherwise the match was uneventful. In the first match of the afternoon, J. W. Crane, titleholder for three, years, had a default from J. W. Henning, Jr., of New York. This morning Austen Potter, Jr., of Boston, plays W. B. Dinsmore, Jr., of Tuxedo, and in the afternoon E. A. Thomson meets Deane Miller and M. S. Paton meets J. H. Morgan.
